The Problem

Finding and harvesting relevant information from the Deep Web for analytics...

The Web Tsunami

“Between the dawn of civilization through 2003, just 5 exabytes of information was created. That much information is now created every two days and the pace is increasing. People aren’t ready for the technology revolution that’s going to happen to them”

Eric Schmidt – CEO, Google
Lake Tahoe Technology Conference, 2010

“Data will grow by 800% over the next five years - 80% of it unstructured.”

Gartner Research Report 2011

Publicly Available Information

“Open Source” Information

- Doubled both in size AND infrastructure over last 5 years
- Continues to grow at exponentially faster rate
- 2.27 billion internet users worldwide

225 million – Twitter users

21 million – People following Justin Bieber (Twitter’s most followed user)

250 million – Tweets per day

109 million – WordPress and Tumblr blogs

2.4 billion – social networking accounts worldwide

A screenshot of a Google search for "Peter King". The search bar contains "Peter King". Below the search bar, the text "Search About 31,600,000 results (0.26 seconds)" is circled in red. Below that, the search results show "King, Pete" with the URL "peteking.house.gov/" and the text "U.S. Representative for New York's 3rd District, Republican Pete King." To the right of the search results, there is an illustration of a man in a suit sitting at a desk with a computer. A red box next to him contains the text "31 Million Links". A red line connects the circled search results to the "31 Million Links" box.

Law Enforcement Issues in 2012

1. The 2012 Presidential debate will be held next summer at Hofstra University in Uniondale, NY (Nassau County). The last time we hosted a Presidential debate (2008), we had a large number of demonstrators, some of which were violent. We are expecting the same kind of attention (if not more so) this coming year.
2. Twitter party / gang activity is a constant concern. In the warmer months, gang members (and others) will advertise illegal for-profit house parties via Twitter and other social media. Gang members in Nassau County and NYC frequently use Twitter (via cell phone) as a communications tool.
3. Our anarchist groups widely use social media for communication, command and control. There are various groups and individuals that we would like to passively monitor.
4. Congressman Peter T King's district lies within Nassau County, and his security is one of our responsibilities, especially when he is in New York. We would like to monitor any threat traffic on the Internet directed to Congressman King and keep an eye on particular individuals with a prior history of threats / actions against him.
5. Our proximity to NYC makes domestic and international terrorism a constant concern. We would like a better way to review and monitor individuals / groups (residing in Nassau or Suffolk Counties) that openly espouse anti-American and / or radical Islamic viewpoints.
